¿Cómo están? Hope you are doing well.

MEGACITIES

February marks the end of MegaCities. Around the middle of the month, the majority of the teams left the city. Afterward, the 2 main leaders came to thank the pastors and hear back from them and close everything up. It's so sad that they are gone but they left such a blessing and harvest in the city and it has been exciting hearing how many of the churches have been impacted and plan to continue the work that was started. Over the year that MegaCities was in Mexico City, they saw over 1000 missionaries come into the city from all over the world and more than 10,000 people get saved. I was able to go to a few of the debrief meetings with different pastors from around the city, and I was amazed to hear their stories, passion, vision for the future, and excitement over what God has done in their churches and communities over the past year. I remember one meeting with the evangelism pastor of a big church downtown. He was telling us that, through working with MegaCities, there are now about 10 or 15 churches that have started meeting together each month to plan different evangelism events all over the city. He was so excited and on-fire as he shared with us their vision and thanked us for coming into the city and teaching them how to evangelize and be strategic about it. The week before the teams all left, we had one last corporate meeting for all the teams and people that had been working in the city. We had worship and testimonies in the morning and evangelism in the afternoon in the zocalo, the main downtown square where the government buildings are and the main Catholic church. It was so amazing!!!! Now many of the local youth are getting together and planning some continuation projects for the future to keep meeting and impacting their city! I am so blessed that God led me to work with them and allowed me to see a bigger picture of what He's doing in the city!!!!

IZCALLI

This past month was a month of planning. In a few of our youth group meetings, we gave the youth a chance to share their ideas and goals for the year and then us leaders met with the pastor to talk them over. It's so encouraging hearing both the youth's and the pastor's excitement for this year and desire to start new things and continue reaching the community. Now we have many ideas and some dates but we still need to start making these things happen. Some of our ideas are to have coffee nights to invite friends to and share with them, start a church newspaper, run a recycling campaign, continue evangelizing in our community, plant trees at the park, deep clean the church, and go on some short-term missions trips. I, personally, am really excited about this year and can't wait to see what God has in store for us!!!!

PRAYER REQUESTS

- to be able to make all of these ideas happen in the youth group
- for deeper relationship with the youth on a personal level

Thank you so much for everything. I'd love to hear from you all!

Dios les bendiga,
Cassandra
